Joplin is the commercial center of the celebrated southwestern Missouri lead and zinc region. Besides its mining business, which amounts to about $10,000,000 yearly, it has such diversified commercial interests as white lead and smelting works, foundries, machine shops, large manufacturing and wholesale houses, etc. There are seven banks with deposits aggregating over $4,500,000. Four large railway systems, the Kansas City Southern, Missouri-Pacific, St. Louis & San Francisco and Missouri, Kansas & Texas, furnish transportation facilities.

These bonds are issued to provide funds for sanitary and storm sewers, and are a direct obligation of the city.

Gen. Nelson A. Miles, who visited Maine last week, says that it would be a step backward to re-establish the canteen system.

The prohibition bill was killed in the South Carolina House of Representatives Thursday by the decisive vote of 64 to 53. The Senate also is opposed to prohibition. County local option is now provided for throughout the state.

Three druggists were sentenced by Judge Peabody in the York county supreme court last week to pay fines of $300 and costs each, for violation of the liquor law, and each was ordered to give a bond of $500 not to sell liquor during the next two years.

The flag of the American man of war Chesapeake, captured in the fight with the British ship Shannon in 1813 was put up at auction in London and sold for $4250 to a dealer named Partridge. It is reported that Partridge acted for Cornelius Vanderbilt.

One of the oddest of the cranks that have started to go around the earth for a wager set out the other day from "Franklin square," London, wearing an iron mask and pushing a baby carriage. He is to take both with him, and is to be the man in the iron mask throughout his journey, revealing his identity to no one. In every town he is to buy a postage stamp and get a signed document from some responsible official, and (as a detail) he is to find a wife on a road. He has 10 years for his task, and the prize is $100,000.

It is reported that an agreement between the managers of Vice-President Fairbanks and Speaker Cannon has been reached by which the thirty Fairbanks votes in Indiana will be delivered to Cannon in case of a prolonged contest in the convention, providing the Illinois man can show the greater strength. On the contrary, the vote of Cannon's Illinois delegation is to swell the Fairbanks column should the latter show the greater strength. The move is understood to be directed against the Taft managers, and is said to have the unqualified approval of Vice-President Fairbanks and Speaker Cannon.

A decision of interest throughout the state was made by Judge Cornish in the Piscataquis Supreme Court last Wednesday when he ordered that a quantity of impure liquor seized from a Maine Central freight car be held under the requirements of the pure food law. The pure liquor seized at the same time was ordered to be returned to the railroad company. An appeal was taken and the case will go to the Law Court on exceptions. The liquors were valued at about $1,200 and about one-third, including practically all the whiskey, rum and brandy, was impure. The pure liquor consisted of beer, ale, etc.

A recently published interview with Hon. William T. Haines of Waterville gives conclusive facts and figures to disprove the charges by Democrats and demagogues as to extravagance in state expenditures. He shows where the money goes for educational purposes and other public utilities and makes good the claim that Maine under Republican rule for the last forty years has had one of the cleanest and most economical and democratic state governments in the Union. Of the $29.77, which is the average amount paid on a thousand dollars to our tax collectors, only $1.50 is expended for State purposes, and the greater part of this goes back to the towns, directly or indirectly, in the way of school money; and our State expenditures are more than paid by the tax on corporations and other money interests. Since this interview appeared the state auditor has made the gratifying statement that of the appropriations made by the last legislature the sum of $109,743.36 remains untouched, and has been turned back into the state treasury. So much for Republican management.—Belfast Journal.

Past Workers and Helpers

Paper Read By Miss Nancy T. Sleeper At The First Baptist Anniversary Exercises.

It is a very gracious part of these anniversary exercises which has been assigned to me, recalling to your minds some of the great company of "Workers and Helpers," with whose faithful services this church has been blessed.

In the organization of this church were 35 members, 20 of whom were women. These have all joined the church above. Mrs. Lydia Hatch has been a member of this church 71 years, uniting with it in 1837, by baptism, and thus she takes the first place in length of continuous membership. Mrs. Jos. Kallioch was baptized in 1836, and Mrs. Harriet Packard in 1838, but after a time both of these ladies removed their membership to another church. Mrs. C. C. Chandler became a member in 1840, and Mrs. W. O. Fuller, Senior, in 1845. These, I think, are the only women living who became members before 1850.

The infirmities of life prevent their worshipping with us now, but we recall their long lives of faithful service for our Lord and His church, and in behalf of the present membership, we extend to them our loving greetings.

We have been mostly a quiet people, living our everyday lives unnoticed by the world in any special way, but during the stirring times of the Civil War, a sister in this church was called to occupy a more public position.

Mrs. Ruth S. Mayhew was not a native of this place though she resided here for a time before her marriage. Her husband was a Baptist minister, who lived but a short time after their marriage, and after his death she came again to Rockland, making her home in the family of her sister, Mrs. Sabin Lord, and devoting herself to teaching.

At the beginning of the Civil War, she offered her services as nurse, and went immediately into the service. Upon her return she again engaged in teaching, both here and elsewhere, and finally became a member of the "Soldiers' Orphan Home" in Bath, filling that position till falling illness compelled her retirement, when she came back to her old home in Rockland, where she died, June, 1874.

May 29, 1891, a monument was unveiled in Sea View Cemetery, to the memory of "Ruth S. Mayhew, the army nurse." This ceremony being the first of its kind of which there is any record. I am unable, today, to take the time to rehearse the words of eulogy there pronounced, but one to whom she had ministered, thus voiced his testimony.

"She loved her country well, and her home, her friends, her loss; No braver soldier fell, Beneath his blood-stained cross."

We love best to remember her in the home, the school, the Sunday school, the church choir. We recall her charming manners, her infectious mirth, her musical voice, and all the qualities which go to make up a gracious womanhood, and today we lay upon the altar a wreath of loving remembrance.

Mrs. Mayhew and Mrs. William Willson sang in this church many years. Singers of unusual talent, without envy, whether rightly or not so often attributed to singers, they gladly gave, without hope of reward of their best for the worship of the sanctuary. In each of them the musical taste was fine, and they loved their art as only a true musician can. I love to think of them as singing together now, to the praise of the "Lamb that was slain."

During the pastorate of Rev. H. A. Hart, he became much interested in Margaret Warren, a girl who was a helpless invalid. She was unable to move from her bed, and at last was so afflicted that she could only make a slight motion in the neck, and as the years passed on, she became blind also. Mr. Hart and other friends were unremitting in their attendance upon her, and she became a patient, cheerful Christian. Her home was in the family of a brother, who later, removed from the city taking her with him. They were poor people, and after various vicissitudes, she was put upon the town where she was living. Mr. Hart visited her, and finding her in a deplorable condition, though he himself had removed from Rockland, determined, with the full and free consent of friends here, to bring her back to this place. He did so, a boarding place was found for her, and this church assumed responsibility for her maintenance, though Mr. Hart was always a liberal contributor thereto. She lived many years, and her room of complaint ever escaped her lips; the pleasant smile was ever on her face; grateful thanks to God and her friends ever on her tongue. While Mr. Holman was pastor he seldom failed to visit her Sunday afternoon, tell her about the sermon, pray with her, and cheer her by his presence and sympathy. She was very desirous of uniting with the church, and in November, 1866, Mr. Holman baptized her in a private baptistry, in the presence of a few friends, and later representatives of the church gathered in her room and there observed the "Lord's Supper." A prayer circle was maintained in her room, and all who visited her, came away strengthened and encouraged by her patient and cheerful faith. In the church records appear several entries like this, "The usual letter from Margaret Warren."

Margaret Warren. She was not unmindful that there were church obligations resting even upon her. She died July 31, 1875, and her poor, weary body rests in one of the finest enclosures in Rockland cemetery, for at the request of Mrs. Carlissa Bird, who was laid in her lot, and friends erected a suitable stone to her memory.

It is doubtless true that in caring for Margaret Warren, there came to this church a great blessing. Who can estimate the value of her example and prayers? And did not the Master say, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren ye have done it unto me."

Another who was called to serve Christ by a life of suffering, was our sister, Helen Vesta Butler. Though not like the former, without home or friends, but surrounded by loving friends, and having ever the tenderest care, yet she had to endure years of most intense suffering. Young, charming, talented, she was called to give it all up and lie upon her couch for many long weary years. But what shall I say about those years? To many of us it is known the sweet resignation, the strong faith, the cheerful courage, the playful interest in the church and friends, that filled the hours. Release came at last, and while our hearts ached, and our eyes were wet with tears, we felt like joining the glad song of triumph which hailed her entrance into the presence of Him she loved and served.

In looking over our past history, it is remembered to our honor that at one time our church roll contained the name of a woman who was devoting her life to teaching, in far-off lands, the worship of the true God. Miss Sara Barrows, for so many years a missionary in Burma, became a member of this church during the pastorate of our brother, Rev. W. C. Barrows, and so continued till her return to this country, when she transferred her membership to the city where she was residing. We remember with pleasure her visit to the country accompanied by her faithful friend, Ma Myah, who in native dress, with her gentle manners and quick intelligence, so won our hearts. Miss Barrows, too, has passed on to join the ever increasing membership in the church triumphant.

Mrs. Henry B. Ingraham, a woman of rare piety and "full of good works," for many years had charge of the primary class in Sunday school. We can almost see her marshalling her small host into the church. That she had wonderful tact we all knew, but just how she managed to induce those youngsters to behave with propriety, remains a mystery to the present day. Perhaps some of you sedate fathers and mothers of the present time, may be able to enlighten us.

Sometimes there are found those who have been placed in the church, for the right use of which they must give account. Such a one was Mrs. Carlissa Bird, in whose memory the beautiful memorial window has so recently been placed in the church. Mrs. Bird was baptized in 1837, by the first pastor. "In the old church the seats faced the door, the pulpit being between them, and back of that the choir gallery. Entering the northern door in about the second pew on the right sat the Bird family. The mother was tall, straight, of sober countenance, unpretending in manners, uncompromising with wrong of any kind, constant in attendance upon the services of God's house, a veritable pillar in the church, always to be depended upon, and a devoted Christian of the old-fashioned type." She was noted for her quiet benevolence, and enjoys the distinction of having been the largest contributor to the funds of the church of any woman.

The church record shows that in 1858, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Wall came to this church from the 3rd church in St. George. It is a simple record of the acceptance of that letter and their reception into church membership, but how great was the blessing thus coming to us! Every one knew and admired "Auntie Wall" as she was lovingly called these later years. Coming from a line of pious ancestry, and uniting with the church when a child, she "grew in the nurture and admonition of the Lord." A sister of our first pastor, Rev. Amariah Kallioch and a twin sister of Rev. Jos. Kallioch of blessed memory, she was scarcely less talented than they. How our hearts have glowed within us as we listened to her fervent exhortations! Wherever was sickness, or sorrow, there she was found; and no joy was complete unless shared by her. She was ever modest and unassuming, but capable and energetic to an unusual degree. Great was the sorrow when she went to Massachusetts to pass her last days with her children. It seems as if we must again hear her, as in her frequent visits to the home church, telling us "The way ever grows brighter." But she, too, has gone up higher.

There still lingers in the home of her son, another of this illustrious family, the widow of Rev. Jos. Kallioch, though for a long time unable to worship with us. Mrs. Kallioch was the daughter of Deacon Henry Ingraham, for so many years a faithful servant of this church. Her name is found in the first choir, when they worshipped in the Congregationalist church, and sang "Before Jehovah's Awful Throne." "Fly Like a Youthful Hart on Herbage," etc. Most of her life was spent in other churches but finally Mr. and Mrs. Kallioch came back to this church and we were blessed in their presence and membership. She is now hourly looking for the summons to "depart and be with Christ which is very far better."

There is one class of women who have been helpers of great value in the work, and that is, our pastors' wives. Many of these have passed away, while some are sitting in lonely widowhood. Mrs. I. S. Kallioch, who resides in the state of Washington, is the oldest living representative of this class. Our hearts turn with loving sympathy to-day to Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Parsley, so recently bereaved, and we assure them and all the others who have filled that position, that they still have a warm place in the affections of the Rockland church.

I once stood in the National cemetery at Arlington. All around the echeled shafts, rising in their beauty, rehearsed the wonderful deeds of heroism of this general, or that soldier. But in one place the stately monument bore this inscription, "To the Unknown Dead." Who shall say, in that grave rest no heroes? Their deeds of valor are not sculptured on stone, and in many instances were known only to themselves and God, yet perchance here were some of the bravest who fell.

So today I have to omit personal mention of a great company of faithful women, some of whose names even, are to us unknown. And yet it is true that their prayers and labors have contributed in no small degree to the upbuilding of our Zion. In many of our hearts are enshrined the blessed memories of loving Christian mothers, sisters, friends, whose quiet lives gave no hint to the world of their deeds of heroism, of days and nights of devotion to children, to the aged, the sick and sorrowing, of cheerful patience, endurance of weariness, ill health, poverty it may be, of their daily prayers for the welfare of the church, of their ready offering of whatever of this world's good was their portion, in short, of their entire consecration to the service of the Master. Of how many it could be truthfully said, "She hath done what she could." We have entered into their labors. Truly a precious legacy, an "inheritance that fadeth not away."

But it need not be inferred that all the faithful have gone to their reward. We rejoice today, in the active ministry of many earnest Christian women, of some who voice their praise in song, of others in whose talent for public service we take pride; of many whose greatest joy is to hasten the coming of His kingdom in any way they may. There are some whose only help can be their daily prayers for the dear church, but one and all our prayer is ever,

"Take my life and let it be,"

Consecrated, Lord, to Thee.

[At the conclusion of the reading of the above paper, the presiding officer, Mrs. R. C. Hall, called attention to the fact that Miss Sleeper had modestly omitted mention of her mother, the late Mrs. Lucy A. Sleeper, for a long period one of the most devoted and saintly women of this church, to whose memory the speaker paid a warm tribute.]

NEW CURE FOR STOMACH.

C. H. Pendleton, Druggist and Optician and W. H. Kittredge Give Rockland Readers a Chance to Try It.

Druggists do not often guarantee anything.

But C. H. Pendleton, druggist and optician, and W. H. Kittredge, druggist, assure persons suffering from distressing indigestion that they can surely be relieved.

Since nobody knows when people have suffered from indigestion, sick headaches, bloating, dizzy spells, distress after eating, sleeplessness, and many other symptoms of stomach trouble, and have found the usual remedies powerless.

At last a prescription called Mi-o-na stomach tablets is offered to the medical profession and general public as a final solution of curing stomach and intestinal troubles. Its success everywhere has made it, in the last few years, the acknowledged specific it is today.

Strengthen the whole digestive system with Mi-o-na, and you will soon find that the stomach and bowels do their work as they should. There will be no distress after eating, and no need of physic.

C. H. Pendleton, druggist and optician, and W. H. Kittredge, druggist, have so much faith in the power of Mi-o-na to cure stomach ills that they give a guarantee with every 50-cent box to refund the money if the remedy fails to cure.

The Journey Onwards.

As slow our ship her foamy track
Against the wind was carving,
Her trembling pennant still look'd back
To that dear sea was leaving,
So loth we part from all we love,
From all the links that bind us,
So turn our hearts, as on we rove,
To those we've left behind us!

When round the bend, of vanished years
We talk with joyous seeming,
With smiles that might as well be tears,
We think how great had been our loss,
If Heaven had not assigned us
Each early link that binds us,
With some we've left behind us!

And when, in other climes, we meet
Some tale of woe is circulating,
Where all looks gloomy, wild, and sweet,
And nought but love is wanting,
We think how great had been our loss,
If Heaven had not assigned us
Each early link that binds us,
With some we've left behind us!

As travellers oft look back at eve
When eastward darkly going,
To gaze upon that light they leave
Still faint behind them glowing—
So, when the close of pleasure's day
To gloom hath near consigned us,
We turn to catch one fading ray
Of joy that's left behind us!

CIRCULATION AFFIDAVIT

Rockland, February 4, 1908.
Personally appeared James Hanley, who on oath declares that he is president of the office of the Rockland Publishing Co., and that of the issue of The Courier-Gazette of February 1, 1908, there was printed a total of 4,100 copies.
Before me: J. W. Cook, Notary Public.

Rev. Robert Stuart MacArthur, who is to lecture in this city after an interval of a dozen years, writes: "I am delighted to return to Rockland. I love every part of New England." Dr. MacArthur is one of the few real kings of the platform. We can imagine something of the splendid performance he will give upon that striking topic selected for his lecture here: "America's Great Place Among the Nations."

Although we try to meet the demands for extra copies of The Courier-Gazette it frequently happens that the demand is so large as to overcome the supply. This twice happened last week. Two hundred additional copies of Saturday's issue could have been sold had the supply been equal to the calls.

Knox County Democrats

Are They Going to Nominate the Same Old Ticket?
Just Read This Article and See—F. W. Wight Becomes Campaign Manager for Hon. W. T. Haines.

There are very few indications four months in advance of the Democratic county convention that the party means to keep its word about rotation in office at the court house. It may be, and probably is, that the Democratic party cannot help itself; that the men sucking the plums are too strong to be dislodged; that the tall will keep right on working the dog. Be that as it may, the whole crowd is not one whit less hungry than it was two years ago. Anti-convention and anti-election promises have been thrown to the winds and the whole box and dice of Knox county office-holders are on deck with the same old plea: Give me one more term and then somebody else can have it.

Democrats who piously proclaimed against President Roosevelt running for a third term, which wouldn't be a third term at all, are now seeking not only a third term, but in some instances a fourth or fifth. Consistency is a jewel which is never found shining in the diadem of Knox county Democracy.

Beginning with state senator, which is generally the first nomination made in a county convention, what do we find? Not an avowed candidate. Why? Because the seat is being kept warm for Hon. Lindsey Murray Staples when the latter's gubernatorial boom gets the ice. The veteran senator has had four terms and five nominations, but the party still has such a wholesome respect for his prowess that they will probably be sent back to the Senate after the state convention has thrown him down.

Knox county may be relied upon to send a solid Staples delegation to the Bangor convention, where it will cast a perfunctory vote for its favorite son. It will then come back to Rockland and mollify Mr. Staples' wounded feelings by re-nominating him as the minority leader at Augusta. Men may come and men may go; Senator Staples has been given a life sentence at Augusta.

It is true that one occasionally hears some other name mentioned in connection with the senatorial nomination. The most interesting piece of gossip says that Clifford B. Butler, the present clerk of courts, will be sent to the Senate. A Butler boom would have the backing of two factions—one wanting to see Mr. Butler railroaded out of the clerk's job and the other honestly wanting to see this young man invested with the senatorial toga. Among the younger Democracy the party certainly has no better talent.

Josiah Hupper and Franklin Trussell of St. George are also mentioned. Mr. Trussell has already served in the lower branch of the Maine Legislature and has long been a commanding figure in Knox county Democratic conventions. Next in point of interest comes the sheriff nomination. Sheriff Tolman has been quoted as saying that he would not again be a candidate, but he feels differently about the matter when he sees the other Perennials hustling to cover. In conversation with The Courier-Gazette a few days ago, he said: "Yes, I am a candidate. If it was the intention to have a new slate all around

I should not present myself, but all the other county officers are seeking a re-nomination and I do not see why I should not. Sheriff Irish held the office eight years, and Sheriff Ulmer held it seven years, and I have lived. I am now finishing my third term which makes nine years."

Disparaging Mr. Tolman's view of the matter are thus far two candidates, Edwin O. Heald and Sidney L. Hall. The merry contest of 1906 found all three of these gentlemen in the running, as all confident of victory. Whether Sheriff Tolman has lost strength or the others have gained is something which cannot be told with any degree of accuracy. Somebody at Amherst Sheriff Tolman hasn't done anything to get his fellow Democrats down upon him. His future in office depends upon how hungry they are for convincing his opponents are. It would be the writer's guess that Del will keep on wearing the plug hat with the funeral badge.

There's actually a candidate for clerk of courts aside from the present incumbent, Tyler M. Combs of Vinalhaven is the man. Undisputed by the lemon donation from previous conventions he has gone into this contest, name and money, bidding defiance to the Court House Ring, and scooping prospective delegates wherever they may be found. Clifford B. Butler, the present incumbent is serving his second term. "At present I have nothing to say, but at the proper time I will make an announcement." This is the statement of his position to a Courier-Gazette reporter.

The name of Charles Cushing of Thomaston is again mentioned in connection with the office of county treasurer. The present incumbent, Dr. M. Murphy, has a wonderful hold on the affections of the county Democracy, which has certainly not been lessened by his record breaking performance of collecting the 1907 tax in the same year that it was committed. Not much prospect of a change there.

The nomination for county attorney would appear to be Philip Howard's as long as he cares to have it, and the office is a very desirable one. In the first place there are comparatively few Democratic attorneys, the majority of whom would not care for the office in any event. Secondly it is doubtful if there is another Democrat who could corral as many delegates in a county convention.

The only office where there appears to be a visible prospect of a change is that of probate commissioner. Elmer E. Jameson's term expires this year. He has had one long and one short term and the Democrats do not have any particular favorites about replacing him. There is a little inside tip to the effect that the nomination will be handed on a silver platter to William L. Allen of St. George, who was the victim of a cold-blooded chit-down by his own party not very long ago.

In the probate office it looks as though the same pair of sixes would rattle out of the dice box. Charles K. Miller of Amherst will have had two terms of four years each, and has no opposition at present, although there is a considerable element that would like to see E. C. Payson of Rockland in the office. Mr. Payson is modesty itself, and will never go into the convention unless carried there by his friends and admirers.

The register of probate occupies an office that is said to represent about $1200 of good easy money, but Clarence D. Payson doesn't appear to have the slightest opposition when he goes after a third nomination. The Democratic knocker club threatens to rattle, and will never go into the convention unless carried there by his friends and admirers.

So there you are! Eight offices to fill and a slight prospect of only one change. If the disaffected Democrats lived up to their vows there would be a complete change after the September election was over. They promised the voters of Knox county a change in 1908.

A Rockland special in the Boston Sunday Globe said:

"Fred W. Wight, who managed the campaigns of Governor Cobb and Congressman Littlefield, has been enlisted in a similar capacity for Hon. William T. Haines of Waterville, Republican candidate for the gubernatorial nomination. Mr. Wight, who is considered one of the most astute politicians in the state, is chairman of the second district congressional committee. When asked by the Globe correspondent for an expression of opinion as to the present gubernatorial contest, he said:

"I am not yet sufficiently in touch with conditions. What I have heard leads to the conclusion that there is a deal of bluff in the claims of Hon. Bert M. Fernald. I think nearly all the cities will be for Mr. Haines on account of his stand for resubmission, and the country towns are lining up for him in an extremely gratifying manner. In behalf of Mr. Haines I can promise that there will be no trades and no withdrawal, but that he will go into the convention to win."

"Mr. Wight said that Congressman Littlefield would adhere strictly to his neutral position in the gubernatorial fight."

DREAMLAND.

Rockland people are always ready to appreciate a good thing no matter what it is. That the people are appreciating Dreamland is quite evident from the throngs of people every day. Every afternoon and evening are shown high class motion pictures selected from among the best of the Pathe and other high class productions, so varied in character as to please all refined tastes.

Special attention is paid to the comfort of ladies and children, and with the well known policy of the Dreamland management of treating everyone with courtesy there is every reason to believe that these picture entertainments will become even more popular when the new home is open.

BROKE FROM WHARF.

Sch. George B. Mills broke from her wharf at Hurricane during the fierce storm of Saturday and went onto the beach in front of the store. A hole was given in the vessel's bottom, and the craft sank immediately. The Mills was loading granite for Boston and had about half a cargo on board when the accident occurred. The store will be discharged and the vessel raised and repaired. Washburn Bros. of Thomaston and Capt. Leander Whitmore are the owners.

New Lighting Contract Made

City Will Pay Present Rate of $87.50, but Only on One-Year Contract.—Democratic Aldermen Still Balky.

The principal item of business transacted at the last regular meeting of the city council, last night, was the adoption of a new electric light contract. It is in fact a renewal of the present contract—42 lights at $87.50 each—but for a period of only one year. Each board had a bare quorum present. The aldermen have been remarkably faithful in their attendance the rest of the year, but last night Aldermen McLoon and Smith were out of town, while Alderman Higgins was at home nursing an attack of grippe. This left Alderman Truworthy the only Republican member present, but he did not appear at all abashed by this responsibility.

The following roll of accounts had a passage: Insane hospital and industrial school fund, $16; Police fund, $44; Fire department, $81; Pauper fund, $1153; Contingent fund, $444; Highways, $184; Repairs on public buildings, $32; School fund, $74; Free text books, $11; Transportation of scholars, $28; Sewer fund, $74; City lighting, $74.

Total, $3107.
C. E. Smith & Co. were granted permission to erect a swinging sign at their new place of business in Jones block, Main street.

A. J. Babbidge was given a license to operate a steam boiler in the Littlefield Memorial church.

A. F. Ulmer & Co. and Thorndike & Hix were granted permission to erect and maintain a shute-way on Lake avenue at Chickawaukie Lake.

Americus Hook & Ladder Co., C. E. Heckbert, captain, and the Rockland Athletic Club, M. H. Costello, manager, were granted license to have a sparring match during the present month. Mr. Costello's petition asked for a sparring match in March, but this was assumed to be an error and was amended so as to apply to February.

Clarence A. Packard reported total tax collections to the amount of $2354. Fourteen cases demanded the attention of Police Judge Campbell. L. F. Starrett, collector for 1906, collected $423. The overseers of poor reported that 211 orders were given on the city store in January. Two persons died during the month. There are now 22 persons in the almshouse most of whom are old and past labor. Street Commissioner Spear expended $11 in his department during the month, $8 for sanding sidewalks and $3 for clearing crossings. Treasurer Clough reported disbursements to the amount of $2959. The Mayor's orders amounted to $10,809. Marshal Abbott reported 13 arrests and receipts amounting to $76.

The committee on highways and sidewalks reported on a number of matters, and in accordance with their recommendation the city council voted to accept Shaw avenue, Beech street extension, Columbia avenue and Point place city streets. It was voted to discontinue the small roadway leading to the Wilson kiln. The formality of accepting Elm street as a public highway was gone through in order to settle any disputes which may arise as to boundary fences, etc. This street has been used and maintained by the city for 50 years, but the records in regard to it were somewhat deficient.

The committee empowered to make a new electric lighting contract, comprising Aldermen Truworthy and Blackington, and Councilmen Bird, Staples and Meserve, reported through Mr. Truworthy as follows:

"In the opinion of the committee it would not be advisable to make any long term contracts at this time owing to improvements in electric lighting apparatus and new type of lights which has not been as yet properly tried out. We can contract with the Rockland, Thomaston & Camden Street Railway for one year at $87.50 per light, under the same conditions as the previous contract, the lighting company to trim trees and change location of lights badly located."

Alderman Truworthy stated informally that the lighting company also agreed to maintain three or four lights on Main street in the early hours of moonlight nights, when Main street is still in the shadow. The police have long complained at the present arrangement. Alderman Littlefield thought the city was paying a tremendous price for its lights. Alderman Blackington said he wanted a lower rate but it was not until that very day that the company had yielded to a rate of $87.50 on a one-year contract. He said the company would work in the new enclosed are lights as fast as the others wear out.

The mayor and aldermen were very anxious that the new light at the corner of Main and Sea streets should be retained, because of its great value to so many citizens. Alderman Blackington thought this could be done by discontinuing a light on the Old County road, which was being practically wasted.

That time had not softened the partisan spirit of the Democratic aldermen was manifest when they again refused to pass the bill of Frank E. Levensaler and City Solicitor Burpee. The Levensaler bill was for 14 nights' police duty. Mr. Burpee's bill of $98 included a number of charges for expenses incurred in the mandamus case. Alderman Truworthy thought that the city was only being put to further expense by contesting this bill, but Alderman Blackington's order prevailed.

From the money due them on hearings the aldermen are chipping 12 apiece to have Mayor Jones' picture added to the mayor's gallery in the aldermen's room.

The Scottish Rite bodies will have a meeting here Feb. 12. Supper will be served by the Eastern Star.

Gen. Berry Hose Co. has its annual levee and masquerade ball next Thursday. Paste the date in your hat and buy one or more of the long yellow tickets.

The consecutive blasting of four "quibs" at the Ulmer quarry Friday afternoon aroused much curiosity downtown and led to the usual crop of hair-brained rumors.

Railroad Commissioner Kelzer is at Stillwater this week superintending the repair work on the Maine Central's bridge. This structure was built in 1822 and something like $8000 will be spent in its reconstruction. The three commissioners will alternate in the duty of inspection.

Saturday's storm was the worst of the winter thus far. It started bravely as a snowstorm but the wind howled into the southeast and on came a drenching rain with the wind exceeding contract requirements. The storm ceased early in the evening, but the wind still blew a gale making it both difficult and dangerous to walk on the slippery sidewalks. The majority of the Main street stores closed at a very early hour. The storm was followed by another cold spell with the mercury plunging considerably below the zero mark. There's hope yet for the ice man and the coal dealer.

The annual meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held Thursday evening, Feb. 12.

Maurice Studley has a position in Warren as clerk at G. Dudley Gould's store. His Rockland friends will miss him.

V. A. Leach, who has been connected with the W. O. Hewett Co. for the past 20 years, is no longer with them, but will continue in the same line of work elsewhere.

Real estate owned by 117 individuals who had failed to pay their 1907 tax, was sold at auction yesterday in accordance with the new law passed at the last session of Legislature. Collector Packard acted as auctioneer and each parcel was bid in by Mayor Jones, acting in the city's behalf.

At the meeting of the school board last Thursday evening the special committee comprising Messrs. Chapin, Gribbin and Otis was instructed to correspond with the South-Thomas school board in regard to joint superintendency for this city and that town.

The report of Supt. Moulton showed that school department will have a cash balance of about $300 at the end of the year. Last year the cash balance was only $160. Supt. Moulton also exhibited some samples of 9th grade drawing, with which the members of the board were very much pleased. The annual report of the school board this year is being drawn by Col. E. K. Gould.

A most beautiful and touching sight was witnessed at the Methodist church Sunday morning during the sacramental service. Kneeling at the altar were eight young ladies who had been taken into the church in full membership a few months before, and Mrs. Elizabeth Healey who celebrated her 88th birthday by attending the public worship of God.

There were many tear dimmed eyes as the pastor called attention to the contrast in years and experience between these high school girls and this great-grandmother. Stormy indeed the Sunday has to be that keeps this remarkable woman from her place in the sanctuary. Her presence is a constant benediction and inspiration to young and old, to pastor and people. Everybody prays that she may long be spared to go in and out among this people.

F. Ernest Holman, E. B. MacAllister and A. S. Black were in Portland and Boston last week on business connected with the tide-water compressed air plants which they hope to build at South-Thomas and in Portland. While in the latter city they bonded several land properties, and had previously bonded property on the Presumpscot River. In Boston the plans and specifications of the proposed South-Thomas plant underwent a thorough revision, the result being that a plant may be erected for about $350,000 which will afford a minimum of 2300 h. p. Under the old plans the plant would have cost nearly half a million with a smaller minimum of horsepower.

Messrs. Holman and MacAllister arrived home the latter part of the week, but Mr. Black is in New York on business connected with the financing of the project. The important question concerning this power plant is, or not to be will probably be settled the present week. It is a week fraught with important results for Knox county's industrial future.

THE CAPTAIN, THE BARBER AND THE HARE.

Said the Captain to the Barber, with a bright and genial smile:

"Let's go rabbit hunting, over on Deer Isle. I know right where to find them," said the Captain, "don't you fret."

"I can kill as many rabbits as you can carry home, I'll bet."

Now this pleased the tired Barber, who'd been standing at the chair,

For he said: "I'm awful tired, and I need the good fresh air."

"We will go tomorrow morning," said the Captain, all alive.

"Be around here pretty early, for we leave at half past five."

There were rabbits in large numbers, there were rabbits in a pile.

It was rabbits this and rabbit that until, they reached Deer Isle;

There were rabbits in the haymow, there were rabbits on the beams.

There were rabbits in the cellar, and rabbits in their dreams.

When daylight broke, they both awoke and started for the woods;

"Now," Charlie says, "I'm all prepared, so Cap, produce the goods."

They walked about two hours, then the captain thought I saw a rabbit, behind that pile of Irish.

"We'll investigate," the captain said, "I think we have the goods."

Then the rabbit made a hop and jump, and darted through the woods.

They started off in hot pursuit over rocks and through the brush.

When next they saw the rabbit they had covered twenty miles.

The rabbit he was sitting up before the anxious pair.

They raised their guns a flash, a bang—but again they chased this rabbit.

Again they chased the frightened hare—'twas led right up the hill—up, up, without a stop.

They chased him up at every jump, until they reached the top.

"You're mine," the captain shouted, "You're mine," the Barber cried.

The rabbit was so slightly scared he just dropped down and died.

Stormy indeed that talk it over, with feet both lame and sore.

"Cap, say, 'if we had a rabbit dog we'd got as many more.'"

Now the rabbit hunt is over and every minute tells.

While Charlie wields the razor and the captain rings the bells.

A DEALER IN FURS OF ALL KINDS.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of managers for the Home for Aged Women will be held with the president, Mrs. F. J. Simonton, Middle street, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Several important changes have taken place in the staff of Knox hospital the past week. Miss Jennie M. Draper resigned as superintendent and it is understood she will have a position in a Boston hospital. She is succeeded by Miss Lena P. French, who is a graduate of the hospital and who has shown great adaptability for the work while serving there as assistant superintendent.

Two members of the nurses staff have also sought positions elsewhere—Miss Mary Hanna and Miss E. J. Hinch.

There will be a circle and supper Wednesday afternoon and evening at the First Baptist church. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock followed by an entertainment. The housekeepers will be the Misses Maud and Gertrude Knowlton, Mrs. C. T. Smalley and Miss Kittle Karl. Miss Jeannette Simmons will be in charge of the entertainment.

Mrs. Byron Dow of North Main street died last night. Obituary mention is deferred.

The many friends of Oliver G. Dinamore, the well known Thomaston newspaper man, will learn with deep regret that he is critically ill.

Nearly 100 prominent citizens of Rockland and vicinity will be guests at a goose supper at Crescent Beach to-night. A fine time is in prospect.

Mrs. Martin Britto received news Saturday of the death of her brother, George Huston, which took place on the schooner Adella T. Carleton at Martha's Vineyard. The remains were taken to his home in Camden.

The annual levee and masquerade ball of the Gen. Berry Hose Co. takes place next Thursday evening. Presents to the value of $120 will be distributed among the patrons, who will get their money's worth in viewing the costumes.

You can afford to buy a ticket to this ball if for no other reason than that it is the last fireman's ball of the season.

Payson & Co., Incorporated, is the style of a new Boston firm, the directors of which are John L. Payson, Seth B. Carlin and C. J. Beatey. Mr. Carlin is president and Mr. Payson treasurer, both of them originally so.

Hope boys who afterward came to Rockland, where they are well known. The company has a capital stock of $10,000 and will carry on clothing business at 50 Washington street, where they will be glad to have their Knox county friends call upon them when at the Hub.

Hiram W. Ricker was in this city Friday, and to a Courier-Gazette reporter expressed a very optimistic view in regard to the approaching season at the Samoset. The financial depression has had a very decided effect upon the winter resorts, but Mr. Ricker is confident that the situation will straighten itself long before summer, and that the bookings will be as numerous as they were last season, if not more so.

The painting and general repairs will be done in May, Mr. Ricker said, there would be no change in the personnel of the hotel staff, and that the majority of last season's help would be back.

When in Belfast the Rockland Bowling team was entertained at the board ing house of George C. Seavey, Corner Spring and High street. The Windsor Hotel is closed and Mr. Seavey is now getting quite all of the best trade. His house contains 40 rooms and the table service is excellent. THE CLYDE ILLER COMANCHE, from Charleston, brought into New York Saturday Capt. James Fales and his crew of nine of the four-masted Thomaston schooner, Helen E. Taft. The Taft was sunk in a collision with a vessel believed to be the Swedish steamer Upperaland, off Cape Lookout lightship Wednesday. One of the sailors, John Douglas, a negro, had an arm broken by the collision.

The Helen E. Taft sailed from Baltimore for Galveston, Jan. 24, and finding heavy weather outside, came to anchor for several hours. Wednesday the Taft got under way and late that evening sighted a steamer. Capt. Fales said that if the steamer had kept on her course as she approached, she would have passed to leeward.

The steamer suddenly changed her course, Capt. Fales says, and in a few minutes, struck the schooner on the port side. The schooner's side was crushed in. The steamer sheered off and kept on her course without offering aid. It was found that the schooner was filling with water, so the captain ordered the men into the yawl. They shoved off with a small cask of fresh water and a few provisions. In a few minutes the Taft went down.

The men had been afloat for hours suffering from cold and the waves that rolled into their yawl, when the Comanche picked them up.

THOMASTON

[This Thomaston news letter is carried in the mails and failed to reach the office in season for Saturday's issue.]

About $10 was cleared at the supper given by the high school baseball team at the Baptist vestry Wednesday evening.

George Elliot left Tuesday morning for New York, where he will remain a few days on business.

Oliver Copeland has gone to Boston for a few days. While there he will attend the motor boat show.

Ida Elliot left Tuesday for New York, where she will spend several weeks, guest of her brother, A. A. Elliot.

Ladies' night was observed at the Seagochet Club Wednesday evening. There was not a large number present owing to the severe storm. Ice cream and cake were served, and a pleasant evening passed.

Owing to the illness of the principal, E. F. Davis, there was no school at the fifth grade Tuesday.

Karl Washburn, who has been at home several days, returned to Hebron Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Waldo, who have been in town for ten days, have returned to their home in Boston.

Mrs. E. L. Dillingham has returned from Brookline, Mass., where she has been guest of her sister for several weeks.

Mrs. T. H. McGrail, who was called here by the death of her brother, D. M. McDonald, has returned to her home in Dover, N. H.

Mrs. A. A. Keene has returned from a ten days' visit in Hyde Park, Mass.

There was no preaching service at the Baptist church Sunday morning.

Miss Nellie A. Gardiner attended the Boston Cat Show held in Mechanics Hall, Boston, Jan. 15-18. Two of her cats, her pure white Persian, Marquis of Pearl (A. C. A. 465) and one of his daughters, now owned by Mrs. W. H. Graves of Springfield, Mass., were among the prize winners. Two other kittens, by the same sire, were sold for good prices. It was the largest cat show ever held in New England, over 50 cats being exhibited, and had the largest showing of white Persians ever held in the country, many of them being imported cats. Miss Gardiner is quite enthusiastic over the silvers and shagbills which she saw there for the first time and hopes to own one of these fascinating little creatures in the near future.

Frank H. Jordan left Thursday morning for Boston. While in that city he will attend the Motor Boat Show.

Harry McDonald, who was called here by the death of his father left Thursday for Long Island City, N. Y., where he has employment.

Stanley Cushing is assisting at the W. E. Vinal dry goods store during the annual stock taking.

Mrs. Fahey and daughter arrived in town Wednesday night, accompanying the remains of Patrick Gray, who died in Melrose, Mass., Tuesday.

Mrs. Stickney, who has been very ill with the grippe at her home on Main street, is improving.

EDWARD WARREN ROBINSON.

Edward Warren Robinson, one of the town's oldest citizens, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Clara M. Williams, last Tuesday evening, after a short illness. He was born in Monson, Mass., July 4, 1828, and in early life moved to Monson. About 1847 he removed to Thomaston and entered into the tailoring business. He was appointed postmaster under the administration of Lincoln and served one term, after which he went to Boston and entered into the tailoring business with Richard W. Walsh, but after a short time they dissolved partnership and Mr. Robinson continued the business alone until he finally returned to Thomaston, taking his son, Samuel F. Robinson, in as a partner.

In 1888 he went to Fort Payne, Ala., but was unfortunate in his land speculations and returned to Thomaston, where he since made his home with his daughter.

On May 21, 1848, he was married to Harriet Watts, who with two sons, Samuel F. of New York, G. W. of St. Paul, Minn., and one daughter, Mrs. Clara M. Williams, survive him. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late home on Main street, Rev. E. M. Cousins officiating.

Mrs. Margaret O'Brien, who has been guest of her son in Somerville, Mass., for several weeks, returned home Friday.

Harriet Williams has resumed her duties as teacher at the Brookwood street school, after a vacation of two weeks due to illness.

Mary McPhail entertained friends at a quiet Thursday evening. Those present were Mary Thomas, Belle Cullen, Margaret Rider, Alta McCoy, Maude Grant and Mrs. Arthur Philbrook and Freda Mackey. The prizes were won by Maude Grant and Alta McCoy.

C. A. Creighton is in Boston on a business trip.

Caesle Donohue and Emma Young, who have been teaching school in Cushing, have finished the term and returned home.

Halver Whitney, who has been employed in Boston for some time, returned home Saturday, where he will remain for several months.

On account of illness Eben F. Davis, principal of the grammar school, has been obliged to return to his home in Auburn.

C. H. and E. P. Washburn, who have been on a business trip connected with the schooner John E. Devlin, returned home Friday.

Alice Oliver and Ella M. Roney left Friday for Rochester, Mass., to visit Mrs. G. A. Berg.

The Seagochet Club will have a whist party at their rooms Wednesday evening, Feb. 5, to which all are invited.

F. H. Jordan and Oliver Copeland, who have been attending the motor boat show in Boston, returned home Friday night.

Mrs. C. A. Creighton was in Madison last week on business connected with the D. A. R.

Rehearsals are being held for the Black Bird Minstrel; date of performance given in the country of the Black Bird.

Raymond Gilchrist, who has been working in Haverhill, Mass. for some time, is at home for a vacation.

Helen Meserve, who has been in town a few days, has returned to her home in Spruce Head.

W. O. Masters House Co. will hold its annual ball in Waits hall Friday evening, Feb. 14. Floor directors, Chief John F. Beveridge and N. F. Andrews; also, Harold Rider, James Matthews and George Dillingham. Illuminated street parade at 7:30 p. m.

WONDERFUL WORK.

In a few lines, I wish to express my appreciation and gratitude through the Courier-Gazette to Dr. J. H. Damon, for the skillful and painless manner in which he extracted my upper teeth Friday, Jan. 24. I did not feel a tooth come out, nor the forceps touch one, and am so pleased with the application and results of his new cold spray and entirely painless method, that of my own accord, I feel it a duty to tell my friends, in order that they may not suffer from aching teeth as I have for the past year—mostly through dread and fear of being hurt—which has been my experience sometimes in the past. Dr. Damon's new preparation does not leave your mouth sore, and my gums have not bothered me in the least.

MUST GO TO JAIL.

Liquor Dealers Sentenced in Lower Court Who Failed to Appear in Supreme

Clerk of Courts Clifford B. Butler issued five jail warrants yesterday against three alleged liquor dealers who failed to come into Supreme court when their cases were called for trial last month.

One warrant was against Harry McKesson, a Rockport hotel proprietor, who is under sentence of 90 days in jail and fine of $100 and costs for search and seizure and single sale. Herbert Coates, clerk of the same hotel, who is under sentence of 60 days in jail and costs for search and seizure were also wanted. A third was against the two jointly.

Two warrants were against Michael Rawley of Rockland, who is under sentence of $100 and costs and 60 days in jail.

While court was in session Judge King directed that the entry "judgment of lower court affirmed" be made in the case of each dealer who was under sentence and failed to appear in supreme court for trial. Not being clear in his mind as to whether a capias or mittimus warrant should be issued, Clerk Butler wrote to Judge King for instructions. The latter's reply in substance was that after a final judgment mittimus issued as a matter of course, being but a ministerial act done on the general authority of the court, like the issuing of executions in civil cases.

There has been some talk to the effect that the counsel for the three men would resort to habeas corpus proceedings in the event they were jailed.

ROCKPORT

Chas. Stewart is at home after an absence of several weeks.

Mrs. Fred Shibles is confined to her home with a sprained ankle.

Miss Blanche Robbins, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. George McKinnell, has returned to her home in Union.

Chas. Stewart of Bangor was in town last week.

Mrs. Alden Thurston has returned from Boston and will remain with Mrs. Roscoe Thurston for the winter.

Mrs. Henry Bohndell, who has been ill for the past week, is convalescent.

Capt. George Lane left yesterday for Portland, where he will join his vessel, the Mary Bradford Pelree.

Miss Dorothy Richards returned Saturday from Rumford Falls, where she visited friends for a few weeks.

Mrs. Walter Simmons and children of Rockland were recent guests at R. L. Patterson's, Sea street.

Rev. W. O. Holman of Rockland was the guest of W. A. Holman and family Sunday.

The funeral services of Arthur Paris, whose death occurred at Jacksonville, Florida, were held Sunday afternoon at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George McKinnell, Central street. Rev. Albert Hart, pastor of the Methodist church officiated.

Mrs. F. A. Maguire and Robert B. Maguire left Friday for Boston, where they will remain for a time.

Capt. J. A. Amesbury is spending a few days in New York.

A very enjoyable event was that of the open house at the Twentieth Century Club held Friday evening at the home of Mrs. E. A. Morrill, Mechanic street. A very pleasing program was rendered which consisted of vocal solos by Mrs. Julia Robinson of Thomaston and Mrs. Mary Knight Andrews, reading by Miss Fannie Shaw of Thomaston, and piano solo by Miss Nellie Hollins. Mr. and Mrs. Morrill gave several selections with the piano which added greatly to the entertainment of the evening. Delicious refreshments of ice cream and cake were served, and the guests departed at a late hour, pronouncing it one of the most delightful meetings the club has ever held.

The Ladies' Auxiliary, who had planned to give a supper Wednesday evening, has been postponed indefinitely on account of sickness.

CAMDEN

In our Saturday issue we stated that one of the Rockland-Rockport Lime Co.'s barges had been in the harbor ten days waiting for good weather to go on the railway. The ten days should have been two days.

The Baptist Sewing Circle will meet this week, Wednesday, with Mrs. Charles Durd on Elm street.

F. A. Carpenter of Boston has been spending the past week with Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Patten.

News was received here on Friday of the death of George Houston, formerly of Camden, which occurred at Vineyard Haven on board the schooner Delta T. Carleton, in which he served as one of the crew for several years.

Always a kindly disposition he will be sadly missed by his many friends. His remains will be brought here for interment in the Mountain Street cemetery.

Announces to the ladies who wish to buy for the coming season, that she has more than the usual number of samples (large enough to enable the purchaser to see what she is buying) of new dress goods from the reliable firm of Buckley & Jennings Co., importers and jobbers of dry goods, New York. These are samples of choice materials, not to be found in the dry goods stores. There is nothing in the line that is second class or that is an imitation. They are the best that the American, English, Scotch, Irish and Swiss markets afford.

These samples may be seen at my home, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Charles Winslow, Frank Sellers, Chester Colson, Frank Healey, Percy White, Arthur Carlon and Andie Cassie were guests of Charles Webster at his very comfortable quarters adjoining the telephone office, Thursday evening. There in his "den" well lighted and heated, may be found an opportunity for reading, writing, story-telling, cards or other amusement as occasion demands. One side of the room is fitted up as a laboratory. Mr. Webster is an acknowledged king of the chaffing-dish and on this evening served a delicious shrimp stew. The meet was in honor of Mr. Winslow, who has been home on a short visit from St. Joseph, Mo., and Monday left for that city, after a visit with his sister, Mrs. Alard Sprague, in Brockton, Mass.

Class 1908, V. H. S., will hold a very unique entertainment and concert in Memorial hall February 14. "Our Ambition," a prophetic class fantasy, will be presented. The singers, some entirely new ones, will be announced in next issue. As all school benefits are well patronized it is safe to prophesy a big attendance for this date. Dancing will follow the entertainment and good music is promised.

The great mark-down sale in clothing at L. R. Smith's will continue throughout the week. Freeman S. Hamilton is assisting in the sale.

Miss Pearl Kittredge entertained the Neighborhood Apron Club at her home Thursday evening.

The editor of the Memphis, Tenn., "Times" writes: "In my opinion Foley's Honey and Tar is the best remedy for coughs, colds and lung trouble, and to my own personal knowledge Foley's Honey and Tar has accomplished many permanent cures that have been little short of marvelous." The 12mo Club held its fortnightly meeting last evening at the home of Wm. A. Hill on Lincoln street. The paper was to have been read by Capt. E. A. Butler, but who was prevented by illness from being present.

There will be a hearing in Portland today upon the petition of creditors of the Consolidated Steamship Co., who have applied for a receiver. It is claimed that such a step would be for the benefit of the several steamship lines, one of which is represented by the Eastern Steamship Co. It is stated that the Eastern Steamship Company is a paying proposition and during the summer, especially, made excellent profits. The company's property had been mortgaged to pay for certain improvements mostly in the line of equipment, and notes had to be met.

The recent financial stringency had made it hard to get cash and the company had found itself unable to get money with which to meet its obligations. A receivership seemed to be the only solution of the problem with a probable reorganization of the company. Calvin Austin will probably re-assume management. He is an able man in every way, who thoroughly understood the needs of the Eastern Steamship Company. It is also possible that he might be appointed receiver.

IF MOTHERS ONLY KNEW

When children are cross, irritable and peevish it does not signify that they have bad tempers, it shows that there is something wrong with the child which it is not able to explain, and which the mother—if she only knew—could easily and quickly cure. Mothers, study your child's symptoms. If cross, peevish, nervous, grumpy, teething, weeps the bed, picks the nose, has variable appetite or bowels, suffers with indigestion or headache, is irritable and restless, has a runny nose or offensive breath, you may be sure that child is troubled with worms, which cause nearly all the ills of childhood.

Don't delay—disease comes suddenly—a few doses of the wonderful old-time remedy—

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

Will give your children that vigorous health which is so important to their future happiness. Dr. True's Elixir expels the worms. If there are any—if not it acts as a gentle laxative and tonic. It cleans out all waste matter from the stomach and bowels, tones and strengthens the entire system of adults as well as children. Dr. True's Elixir is a safe, pure, vegetable tonic and has been the standard household remedy for fifty-five long years. Sold by all druggists, etc., etc., $1.00. Write for free book, "Children and their Diseases."

ROCKLAND

MRS. SPRAGUE IN CALIFORNIA.

Rockland Lady Writes Home of Things Beautiful and Unique.

1547 Spruce St., Berkeley, Calif.

Jan. 24, 1908.—If it isn't too ancient history, this letter would record a notable Thanksgiving service in the Greek Theatre. The Greek Theatre is a stone (concrete) structure built into the side of the hill on the grounds of the University of California, and having 8,000 seats, all good for a view of the stage, which abuts on the south-western facade. Berkeley has about 40,000 people; this service was the united action of the federation of the churches and Christian workers of Berkeley.

Most of the audience was seated in the diazoma, where wooden chairs invited to safety and comfort, there having been a shower in the night, and the stone seats of the amphitheatre were still damp and cold. The pilgrim counted 300 people in the diazoma, and there were possibly a hundred more scattered in the height and breadth of the circle, which is three hundred feet in diameter. The President's proclamation was read by the Mayor, Francis Ferrier, there were the usual prayers by different clergymen, a good sermon by the pastor of the "Christian" church, scripture reading by another pastor, a pianist, a chorister, and the singing of a fine Thanksgiving hymn and the ever-beloved "America," with the doxology by Thomas Ken, and the benediction. When Maude B. Booth spoke in the Greek Theatre one Sunday last summer the whole space was crowded to the danger point. Some people went away, and many remained on the hill above the walls, where the music could be partly heard. Was there in these services, some indication of the difference in strength between popular devotion and popular curiosity?

Recalling the laden skies and chill winds of a Maine November, the pilgrim has ardently desired to bestow on the good people of Rockland a croak, or chunk, or section (or whatever the proper term may be) of this California November weather; for all through the month there was almost unbroken sunshine—weeks of rich, warm, golden Indian summer. And there is such witchery in the sun, such a sense of living up high, of nearness to the sky. True, the Berkeley hills rise some two thousand feet above the sea, but one is not always on the hills, still, always, when the sun shines, the pilgrim, at least, has this feeling of walking on air. Truly (without trying to be funny, or punny) the grandeur and exaltation of the hills seem to go into one's veins. The pilgrim used to think there could be no more beautiful sight than that obtained in a walk up Lime-rock street from Main during a fine autumn sunset, when the courtesies done, and the church spire one by one came into view, and the gold and crimson glory fell on the distant hills and nearer fields and trees. But it is something to live for, to see the sun set through the Golden Gate, or rise upon the Berkeley Hills! Come who can, and see a California winter, with its roses and lilies, heliotrope, pansies, pinks and all sorts of flowers. And this is not southern California, where the weather is much warmer than here and the flora much more luxuriant. This is no pretense that California weather is always sunny—some times it rains, and California rain is very wet, and California mud is very muddy, for California things are never half way—as witness Abe Ruef, the Mefistofeles of modernity.

On the first Friday in January the pilgrim was a guest of Mrs. A. C. Hussey, Oakland, at her Neighborhood Sewing Club. Mrs. Hussey was Miss Fanny, daughter of the late Calvin Ingraham, well known in Rockland, though they lived in Boston. She has a very artistic home, and entertained her guests in a charmingly interesting manner, with various artistic features, including music and elaborate refreshments. Mrs. Hussey is a niece of Job P. Ingraham of Rockland.

Mrs. Harry J. Kendall of Oakland was one of the hostesses of the Ebel Society's January lunch, and the pilgrim was her guest. Between two and three hundred women in dinner dress, around flower-decked tables, presented a festive scene in the banquet room, where the well-served lunch was followed by music and an entertaining speech by the Rev. Mr. Lathrop of Berkeley. It was here that the pilgrim met Mrs. Jones, the president of the Oakland Club, and had the honor to be her guest, (and also the guest of Mrs. Holmes, met previously at Mrs. Hussey's) at a delightful entertainment by this second large organization of Oakland women. A fine elocutionist here gave several selections, a good contralto rendered two songs, and last, two brothers and their sister—Messrs. Paul and Thomas Rieger and their young sister Marjorie—the eldest at the piano, the next with the cello and the young sister using the violin, played Handel's Largo, which seemed to take the pilgrim straight home, where the leader of the Bontuit Orchestra sometimes used to play the "Largo" by her special request and for her private benefit. The program ended, tea and cakes were served to the large assembly, and the pilgrim got her car in a maze of old memories and new impressions of happy faces and cordial greetings which strengthened previous pleasant relations with California women's clubs. This club is supporting some excellent public benefactions, maintaining an officer of the Juvenile Court as one of them, thus proving their interest and practical devotion to the young (Dr. Tanner takes note of).

Years ago, one whom I knew, who had lived in California, used to burst into song with the words, "Mr. Scott was heard to say, I never lived in San Jose." The pilgrim used to wonder vaguely what these words might signify, but never acquired the information till, after becoming a quasi-Californian, she was told that Mr. Scott, being a candidate for office in San Francisco, was objected to on the ground that he had not been in that city long enough to gain a residence; hence "Mr. Scott was heard to say, I never lived in San Jose." With this word "golden" part of the mission town, and some dim recollections of earthquake damage there, the pilgrim hailed with glee an invitation from her good friend, Mrs. Matthews Turner to go with her on an automobile trip to San Jose. It was November 27th and the perfect autumn weather—the golden sunshine pouring in rich floods over the land. That word "golden" belongs to California sunshine—is a part of it, and, in this connection, would have been worn out long ago were it not too metallic to become threadbare.

We left Berkeley near 9 a. m., dined in San Jose about 12 m., rode around the town awhile, then home in less time than we spent on the downward trip, the luxurious machine acting like the wing angel that it is, and landing us at the end of the hundred and twelve miles, without a sign of weariness in the party of five, three of whom, at least, were not so young as once they were. Much of the way lay through vineyards and orchards, some trees utterly bare, others flaunting gay foliage in burnt orange shades and presenting a gorgeous color harmony against the brown hills and rich, dark soil of late-plowed fields. The hills of the coast range are more picturesque and interesting than words can tell, their convolutions so varied and gigantic that the mind trying to contemplate the process is lost in a maze of fancy. Though the prevailing color is brown, it is in varying shades, and some peculiar effect of the California atmosphere softens the landscape that these hills suggest titanic shapes of brown and wood colored plash.

As we rode southward, we get views of Mount Hamilton, the scene of the Lack Observatory, of the University of California—very grand and picturesque with the varying cloud effects of light and shade, and recalling some lines impressed on "memory's walls" from one of the school books of my youth, anent the clouds on Mount Monadnock:

I saw their dark and clouded bands
In thunder on his breast descending,
But there once more redeemed he stands,
And heaven's clear arch is o'er his bending.

Nearing the town, we passed the old Mission San Jose, a long, low adobe building, whose closed door and shuttered windows proclaimed it "As body when the soul has fled," but still eloquent of the days when Spanish priestcraft held its dominant sway of good and evil in much exploited America—the land of gold whose riches freighted deep the Spanish galleons, and filled the coffers of the Spanish kings.

EPILEPTIC FITS.

There is nothing more frightful in a happy home than to have one of its members instantly seized with a dreadful attack of Epilepsy or Fits. The many grateful letters from such homes after the use of Elixir Kosine, the remarkable remedy for the dread ailment, testify to the real merit of the preparation.

It is a meritorious article and is sold on a guarantee plan that deserves your confidence. The price of $1.50 will be refunded by Cyrus W. Hills if not fully satisfied after using a bottle. Mail orders filled by The Kossine Co., Washington, D. C., or Cyrus W. Hills, druggist, Rockland, Me.

A Long Scold.

Brewster, who was returning late from his club, was received by his wife on entering the bedroom with a well rehearsed curtain lecture. Fortunately he had not turned up the gas, and as the door was not closed he quietly slipped out and rejoined his friends at the club. Two hours later he again wended his way home and picked up his ears on reaching the bedroom door.

"It's! She didn't notice it!" said he, chuckling to himself. "She's still scolding!"—Glasgow Herald.

IS CONSUMPTION INHERITED.
Opinion of a Prominent Bacteriologist Given at a Recent Lecture at Harvard College.

Prof. H. C. Ernest in a recent lecture before Harvard Medical school discussed this theory at length. He claims that consumption is not an inherited disease, and that the children of parents who have had tuberculosis are as likely to grow up strong and healthy as children of parents who have not. Dr. Ernest further claims that the cardinal means for curing this dread disease are plenty of fresh air, sufficient nutritious food, rest and exercise.

For centuries physicians everywhere have recognized the value of cod liver oil in the treatment of consumption and all wasting diseases, but unfortunately few could take it with benefit on account of the indigestible oil.

Vinol has solved this problem. It is the modern cod liver preparation without oil, made by a scientific, extractive and concentrating process from fresh cods' livers, combining with peptonate of iron, all the medicinal, healing and body-building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil or grease. As a specific for all throat and lung troubles, and as a strength creator and body builder Vinol is unequalled. Try it on our offer to return your money if it fails to give satisfaction. Cyrus W. Hills, Druggist, Rockland, Me.

Vinol is also sold by the G. I. Robinson Co., Thomaston.

POLITICAL POINTS

Democrats Will Hold State Convention July 15—Other Matters.

Thirteen members of the Democratic state committee held a meeting in Fairfield Monday night and fixed upon July 15 as the date for holding the state convention, at which candidates for governor and state auditor will be nominated. The Republican example will be followed by holding the convention in Bangor.

Knox county was represented at the meeting by Philip Howard, who is a member of the state committee; and by Sheriff Tolman and Editor Otis, who acted in the capacity of confidential advisers. George M. Hanson of Calais, who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for governor, will act as chairman of the convention. W. R. Pattangall, having become a resident of Kennebec county, resigned as a member of the state committee from Washington county, but will continue to dictate party policies through the columns of that semi-serious publication known as the Waterville Sentinel. Candidates were probably discussed, but if any boom was launched it was done on the still-hunt principle. The Thirteen committeemen then adjourned.

Congressman Samuel L. Powers has charge of the Taft boom in Massachusetts, and it has been hinted that Taft and Crane would make a good ticket.

Next January the world will be celebrating the 150th anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns and no doubt it will be a celebration worth while. For over a century the songs of this Scottish peasant have been enshrined in the hearts of the people.

Why It Is Stranger.

"Truth is stranger than fiction," quoted the wise guy.

"That's because we don't get sufficiently well acquainted with it," added the simple mug.—Philadelphia Record

Insincerity in a man's own heart must make all his enjoyments, all that concerns him, unreal, so that his whole life must seem like a merely dramatic representation.—Hawthorne.

I wish that I might talk with all sick ones about the actual cause of Stomach, Heart, and Kidney ailments. To explain in person how weak Stomach nerves leads to Stomach weakness, I am sure would interest all. And it is the same with weak Kidneys. This is why my prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—so promptly reaches ailments of the Stomach, Heart, and Kidneys. It is wrong to drug the Stomach or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. These weak inside nerves simply need more strength. My Restorative is the only prescription made expressly for these nerves. Next to seeing you personally, will be to mail you free, my new booklet entitled, "What To Do". I will also send samples of my Restorative as well. Write for the booklet today. It will surely interest you. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 1, Racine, Wis. All Dealers.
